TO DISCUSS QUESTION OF PURCHASING WATER

Representatives of Harriman Roads to Meet With Ogden Councilmen.

Special to The Tribune.

Special to The Tribune.

OGDEN, April 11.—Representatives of the Harriman roads will meet with the special water committee of the city council some time tomorrow to discuss the matter of water rates. The railroad companies are willing to contract for at least $0,000,000 gallons of city water a year but it may not be possible to agree upon what rate the water will be allowed. Unless an agreement is reached with the city the Harriman roads will be obliged to install an addition to its present waterworks system within a short time, as the growing interests of the companies in Ogden bave naturally increased the demand for more water.

Since the purchase of the waterworks system by the city from the Ogden Waterworks company a number of petitions have been submitted by residents in various localities, asking for extensions of the water mains and connections. The city council visited a number of these places where extensions are asked Friday afternoon, to see what the probable cost will be and whether or not the revenues received will warrant the extensions being made. It is doubtful, however, whether the city will undertake any other extensions except the ones being made on Twenty-eighth street and to Five Points this year, as it is the desire of the administration that the waterworks department keep within the bounds of its revenues. These extensions, with the added expense of the new reservoir which will soon be creeted, will about offset the revenues over and above all other expenses of this department for the year. A report from the special water committee to this effect will probably be submitted at tomorrow evening's session of the city council.

SPECIAL EASTER SERVICES HELD IN THE CHURCHES

Special to The Tribune.

OGDEN. April 11—Special services were held in all of the churches of the city today. Before noon a dazzling rain began to fall, which was followed in the afternoon by a snowstorm. The weather interfered with the plans of many churchgoers, yet a large attendance was reported at all of the churches.

AMERICAN FORK, April 11—J. B. Farrel, an aged citizen of Alpine, is in a very critical condition as the result of a runaway yesterday. Farrel, who is 63 years of age, was driving the family horse, attached to a buggy, when the animal became frightened and ran at a breakneck speed, colliding with a tree, which caused Farrel to be thrown over the dashboard and in some manner his clothing was caught and he was dragged lead downward for the length of a city block. Because of his advanced age it is considered very doubtful if he fully recovers from the effects of the needent. James Crooks, Sr., one of American Pork's aged citizens, suffered a painful accident, and at the same time a very close call for his life, on Friday, by being run down by a San Pedro passenger train, northoound. For a number of years it has been Crooks's custom to walk to and from his farm by way of the San Pedro railway tracks. He was returning as usual Friday evening, and did not hear the approaching train until it was almost upon him, and before he was able to clear the track the front beam of the engine bit him a glancing blow, knocking bim fifteen feet and rendering him unconscious.
